Re: Nomination of Daniela Chivu as a Canadian Representative to the Core Group

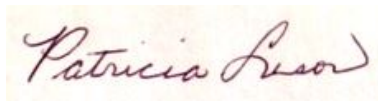

It is with pride and pleasure that I place the name of Daniela Chivu in nomination as a Canadian representative to the Core Group. Our qualification to nominate comes as the National Council of Women of Canada holds Special Consultative Status with the Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC) of the United Nations.

While I appreciate that Core Group members do not represent any individual organization, Daniela's diligent work within our organizational structure has given her the opportunity to hone the many skills and qualities that are invaluable attributes for this position with the Core Group.

Her grassroots interactions with women of diverse occupations, languages, origins, and customs through our local councils in Canadian cities from Halifax to Vancouver and Provincial Councils in Quebec, Ontario, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, and British Columbia means she is closely connected with concerns at all levels while also having a firm grasp of international issues and Canada's commitment to them.

The NCWC is very confident that Daniela's knowledge, dedication, and courage will help advance your mission of strengthening the advancement of women in all spheres of economic security, political, high decision making, and academic and social protection of women at all levels.

Best wishes for continued success,

Patricia Leson, President
National Council of Women of Canada

The National Council of Women of Canada (NCWC) works in the spirit of truth and reconciliation, acknowledging Canada is the traditional territory of Indigenous and Metis People. We are grateful to join with others in peace and hope, advocating for an improved quality of life for women, children, families, and society.
